Chris,

I had hoped that you will forget about writing about CFSG after our honest and straight conversation. There is no wrong-doing by CFSG shareholders and our Reverse Merger has proven to be a very successful for our business as well as shareholders. Different people have different investment approaches and you should respect their decisions.

I heard that you are still contacting various people. I don't mind you keep doing these until you are happy. But I also heard your intention is to short CFSG or help your financer who are shorting CFSG. If this is the case, I should warn you, as straight forward (or naiive) as I have been, you should be careful since you don't know how strong our business is and how many big deals we are close to completion. CFSG SHORT SELLERS WILL BE SQUEEZED - SOON!!

Brian
